The PyTorch assignment was a little tough. Probably giving more instructions on number of channels of the inner convolutional layers would have made it better. We had no idea about what to keep the values being absolute beginners in actually designing CNNs.

I think the classes on Inverse Transform Technique was too slow
I think both the ITT class topics and Rejection sampling class topics could've been done in a single class
You take a lot of time to explain everything which is good, but I think it's too much.
